

International joint exhibition stands

International interest groups, trade associations and local organizations represent innovative countries around the world presented themselves at productronica 2017. Besides themselves and their achievements, they also introduced companies, products and economic regions from Carinthia to China and from Munich to New York.

productronica 2017 features 15 joint exhibition stands. Production locations and electronics clusters around the world continue to converge, and they are networked at the World's Leading Trade Fair for Electronics Development and Production.

Bayern Innovativ GmbH is Bavaria's organisation for innovation, technology and knowledge transfer. It supports players from industry and science in all stages of the value chain by providing customised services to boost innovation dynamics. Bayern Innovativ operates at the interfaces of various industries and technologies. The goal is to build an ecosystem of dynamic networks to accelerate the innovation process. In addition to the organisation's own clusters Energy Technology, Automotive and New Materials, activities focus on "cross-clustering" with other Bavarian clusters and networking with key players in the Bavarian innovation landscape.
